BRITISH MOVEMENT CAMPAIGNS AGAINST IMMIGRATION AND MULTI-CULTURALISM

What a Start to the Year!

The start of the year has been eventful, and we are only a month in.

The expected lockdown has happened. The surprise was letting children return to school for a day and then include them in the lockdown and close the schools.

So again, we are only allowed out for work, food, medical supplies or treatment and exercise.

The row has already started on how the poor children should be paid for by everyone. This time though the government decided against vouchers and hired firms to send food parcels out. But those who received the parcels instantly took to social media complaining that the parcels were not good enough and all the liberal do-gooders have jumped on the band wagon and our government have done their usual thing and backed down and families now can claim the vouchers again.

The vaccine program is full swing. At the start of this week over 6 million people have had their first dose. More money wasted as now there are mass vaccination centres across the country.

Yet, local doctors' surgeries cannot get enough vaccines. The vaccine is allegedly going to beat the virus, but still no word on when children will be allowed back to school or when this current lockdown will end. We definitely will still be in lockdown until the end of March by the looks of things.

Then just last week storm Christoph hit our fair lands and yet again many people watched as their homes were flooded. Why because developers and the government agencies involved with planning have constantly ignored nature and flood plains. Flood plains are natural, they decide where the water will go when our rivers are bursting. But many that think building where they want will beat nature and forget about the poor individuals who think they brought into their future.

Whilst over in America, they have a new President who is passed his best and has to be told what to do and what to say. The events leading up to the Inauguration have been condemned by the world as an attack on democracy. With the attack on Capitol Hill, the country is now on the hunt for all those that took part. Yet, the BLM are still protesting and no condemnation for the destruction and violence they commit.

Time will tell, we are in for a bumpy ride. Even though we are thousands of miles away, the damage the new President causes will affect us.

The Death of Social Conservatism in Britain

"Cultural-Marxism" the bête noire of "Social Conservatism". It is aimed to promote, and even enforce ideas intended to destroy traditional 'British' values. Or so we are led to believe.

By the 1920's, when only the satellite states of the Tsarist Greater Russian Empire, and Mongolia, had followed Russia in becoming Communist, and the 'revolution' had not spread to or succeeded in the economically developed nations, Marxists had to re-think their position. Antonio Gramsci (1891-1937), Italian philosopher and Communist politician, came up with the theory of 'cultural hegemony' to explain how the ruling Capitalist class (bourgeoisie) establishes and maintains its control over the masses.

In Marxist philosophy, cultural hegemony is the domination of a culturally diverse society by the ruling class which manipulates the culture of that society - the beliefs and explanations, perceptions, values and mores - so that the imposed, ruling-class worldview becomes the accepted cultural norm (1); the universally valid dominant ideology, which justifies the social, political and economic status quo as natural and inevitable, perpetual and beneficial for every social class, rather than as artificial social constructs that benefit only the ruling class (2). Therefore, to eradicate Capitalism, Gramsci argued a "long march through the institutions the bourgeoisie control" - the arts, cinema, education, theological seminaries and the myriad forms of mass media - would be needed. The culmination of which would be the collapse of Capitalist cultural hegemony, to be supplanted with Marxist cultural hegemony - 'Cultural-Marxism'. According to Peter Mullen, (a Church of England clergyman, writer and broadcaster), "All this has come to pass", no ".... sane, critical opposition makes any difference. Not one revolutionary innovation has been reversed. Our enemies are laughing at us. The genie is out of the bottle: we have lost." (3).

Apocalyptic stuff, I'm sure you'll agree, and it's not just Peter Mullen who believes the "end is nigh". Actor Laurence Fox, journalist Peter Hitchens, television presenter Piers Morgan, the 'Spiked' and 'Conservative Woman' British Internet Magazines are just the tip of the iceberg when it comes to warning us about the domination of the 'virtue signallers', the 'snowflakes' orchestrating the unstoppable march of 'woke' and 'cancel culture'. "Her (Julie Burchill's) book on cancel culture has been cancelled. You couldn't make this up" to quote a frustrated Brendon O'Neill, editor of 'Spiked' (4).

But and this is the big BUT, despite the rise of 'Cultural-Marxism', International Finance marches on regardless and without any redress. The liberalisation of the British Establishment, the fact we have in Boris de Pfeffel Johnson a twice married Prime Minister, now co-habiting in 10 Downing Street with his 'partner' Carrie Symonds and their child (one of five or six Johnson has fathered - let us face it he's no good on 'detail'), doesn't mean the "Reds are now in the bed", it just confirms the collusion between the twin Internationals of Capitalism and Socialism. Capitalism does not need 'Social-Conservatism' to survive at all, as demonstrated by its promotion of multiculturalism, multi-racialism, miscegenation, homosexuality via advertising and the media, and its acceptance of 'wards of the state' (those who could not survive without state benefits) and drug/alcohol dependency. Thus, we now have a new cultural hegemony, but as the Who song (wonderfully covered by Screwdriver) goes "meet the new boss, same as the old boss" in their appropriately titled song "Won't Get Fooled Again".

International Capitalism is wonderful at reinventing itself. Some renegade 'Reds' believe that the "Sexual Revolution" of the Sixties was introduced by the Ruling Classes to thwart a real revolution. They may well be on the right track, but for me it was designed to destroy the culture and traditions of our folk in a haze of "sex, drugs and rock 'n' roll". I believe International Capitalism and International Socialism are two sides of the same coin, and those who argue for one side or another (as if it was a real battle) are all part of 'The Game'. Spouting their opinions, but still living off the "Milch Cow" of Capitalism and amassing their fortunes and never once mentioning International Finance.

Remember that the great anomaly of WW2 was Britain and France declaring war on Hitler's Germany after the "invasion" of Poland, but two weeks later when Stalin's Red Army invaded Poland from the East, they said nothing. Conclusive proof that International Capitalism/Finance and International Socialism/Communism are one and the same. The only alternative is National Socialism. That is why we, unlike the pseudo-nationalists, don't get 'air-time' on the 'box' or invites to address the Oxford Union.

Ulster at The Crossroads

That a majority of Britons opted to free themselves from the globalist banking club of the EU via Brexit. This came as both a shock and an opportunity to the cosmopolitan elite, for whilst the UK was destined to leave. Could a back door via Northern Ireland be left open? Could indeed the EU claim that part of Britain's territory as its own in a sneaky land grab? Could indeed international finance finally solve the "Irish question" with its troublesome border and in so doing destroy the unity of the U.K.? For whilst Ulster may indeed be expendable to the gang of freemasonic crooks at Westminster, the implications for Scotland & indeed Wales would be enormous.

That Boris is indeed a clown is hardly news, the Conservative party are the puppets of international bank system. Indeed Boris, himself both racially & culturally alien has a cabinet packed with aliens, undoubtedly an unsavoury crew. But a regime which was at one stage very dependent on the goodwill of the Democratic Unionist Party. A party which was lied to & bamboozled by the political spin of political shysters and con men. Whilst the DUP's support was needed they talked tough on the Irish question, but with increased representation the Tories negotiated what effectively was and is, a border down the Irish Sea. With Ulster now effectively regarded as a constituent part of the EU & the Irish republic.

Covid-19 effectively ended any real news of the political machinations to the duplicitous deals and the restriction on individual liberty prevented the mass protests and disorder. Which would have undoubtedly ensued. "All is good" Boris proclaims to both the Irish & the EU. Regrettably neither Boris the buffoon nor his Irish & EU friends have learnt nothing from our history, nor indeed the history of these islands. For if they believe, softened by years of political sell out and surrender, the Ulsterman will meekly capitulate to globalism then they are mistaken.

Thus far, into the second week of January 2021 the changes, mainly paperwork, tariffs and customs have not had a major impact on the lives of Ulster folk. However, the full implications are only now becoming apparent with empty supermarket shelves along with prices economists predict will be on a sliding scale. Certainly, our departure from the European Union has neither seen a slowing down of immigration nor indeed any sign of these diverse people's returning home. It infuriated both the left and the cosmopolitan elite that the main reason, for many they voted to leave was to close the door to the swarm of migrants & asylum seekers. With the awake and astute seeing exactly how society had been changed dramatically to accommodate what amounted to a literal invasion. Certainly, loyalists along with our tradition (and increasingly red) seen exactly how these demographic changes were affecting politics here.

The DUP with its empathies on democracy were outsmarted by the system they defend. The system that pays their wages, useful puppets to the Tories but not wholly dispensable in the cut & thrust of global politics. The fact is the aforementioned charade & demographics make the party-political shell game an irrelevant throwback to history as Britons & Europeans everywhere confront the globalist designs of white genocide and population replacement.

A hundred years ago, 1921, saw the birth of Northern Ireland as a state, it's existence a carbuncle on Westminster an embarrassment to their standing in world affairs. With even the megalomaniacal Churchill offering its territory of the Irish Republic had the state been agreeable to letting its territory being used by the allies, a tradition continued to the Northern Ireland of today.

Whilst both democracy and the globalist agenda offer nothing but ruination, British Movement offers an alternative of a Britain, indeed a Europe, based on the National Socialist ethos of free, homogeneous peoples freed from the designs of international finance, as British Movement's founder, Colin Jordan coined it,

"PARTY TIME IS OVER!"

Covid-19 Vaccine

Is the Covid-19 vaccine safe who knows if it is because it has been rushed through without the usual long-term tests.

Many people are ambivalent because, while they want to protect themselves against infection. They also fear possible side effects from vaccination.

All risks and side effects registered so far are only snapshots of the past months — this must be noted despite all the excitement about the rapid vaccine development. Nothing is yet known about possible long-term effects of the individual vaccines.

Only the long-term studies that accompany the vaccinations worldwide and will continue since approval will provide clarity.

Makes one think does it not? I will not be having the vaccine unless it becomes mandatory and then under great protest. I honestly do not trust the government or that the vaccine is safe, but you can see that they will force it upon us.

They are already using all forms of media to compel people into having the jab so far, they are being nice about it.

They are already talking about vaccine passports and those who refuse to have it not being allowed to leave their homes even to go shopping or for work. So, it is not that great of a leap before they make it compulsory.

It already so for those who work in certain fields i.e., care homes and the like. There was a case of workers in a care home refusing to have the vaccine in the North East of England because they did not think it was safe. The mass media were in uproar about this calling for them to be sacked. What happened to freedom to decide for one's self? Well, it seems that along with free speech it's gone and it's going to be a long hard fight to get it back, but we must never give up that fight.

Spain

Migrants landing in Gran Canaria and Spain

In December tensions rose in Gran Canaria over a surge in migrant arrivals, around 30 residents in Arguineguin shouted insults outside one of the hotels being used as a shelter for Migrants. There was no physical aggression, but the protesters could be heard shouting “Moors Get Out “. And calling the Migrants “Abusers “. The incident happened when some of the locals began to harass a group of Moroccan men. The scene became heated and the Civil Guard sent several patrols out to protect the hotel while the local police stopped cars from approaching the hotel.

It was sparked by a story that a group of Migrants had beaten and robbed a young man because he had criticised them for bothering young girls on the beach. The only person to be arrested was the guardian of the young Migrants for alleged assault. The Red Cross say that nearly 6,000 migrants are staying at 12 hotels in the Gran Canaria. The climate of hostility against Migrants poses yet another challenge in how to deal with the surge in Migrant arrivals. Some 22,000 Migrants have arrived on the canaries in 2020, some 15,000 are still on the Island.

In the Alicante region of Spain on the 23rd December a small boat containing Migrants landed on a Alicante beach, they landed on Barraca De Xabia Cove, they were well prepared. Officials recorded that they were wearing waterproof clothing which they discarded along with the boat before dawn. An early rising fisherman reported to the Guardia Civil that he found the empty boat and clothes nearby. Officials immediately set out on a search to track them down, they were found and sent to the port of Alicante for PCR Tests. Last week the National Police apprehended another boat full of Migrants in Alicante as they walked around in soaking wet clothes.

Update of COVID-19

As of January 13th, the state of health in Spain is facing a arduous challenge. The country does not seem to be able to flatten the curve of people infected despite the government's efforts to curb the spread. By restricting the population from all social interaction.

The confirmed number of cases of the coronavirus disease from January 14th is: - Confirmed cases

2,137,200, Deaths 5,268, New cases 86,222.

With Madrid suffering the highest number of cases with over 400,000 people infected. The virus has spread to all Spanish Regions.

In the last week the restrictions have changed in the Alicante region. Now bars and restaurants must close unless they can offer a take-away service but then they can only open until 5pm. All gyms are to close. There has even been talk of changing the 10pm – 6am curfew to 8pm – 6am.

In Murcia the next region south to Alicante there are 36 towns in the region decreed by the Regional Government, where Coronavirus restrictions limit movement in or out . Fines are being drawn up for those without good reason to cross the in and out of the restricted municipality.

Australia

Australia Day!

In this Commonwealth "Land Down Under" January 26th is one of our public holidays, a day when Australians have the opportunity to show their patriotic pride and to celebrate their love of all things Australian.

Historically, local councils have hosted Australia Day Breakfasts, serving up bacon & egg rolls and that perennial Aussie favourite - the 'Lamington Cake' to all -comers.

However, over the last few years there has been a definite push on, driven by the left-wing media and lefty luvvie celebrities to... "Change the Date". To them and to indigenous Australians this day is "Invasion Day" and protest marches with the usual rabble taggle bunch of left-wingers alongside Aboriginal activists have become larger, louder and more widespread each year, the banners proclaiming, "We Walk on Stolen Land" and the classic "No Pride in Genocide" held aloft with the obligatory black power fists. As we live in a country that grants (some of) us the freedom to express (some of) our views; the authorities allow these marches to go ahead and some councils have sought to add their support to this media fuelled hate frenzy by discontinuing their annual local celebrations and special citizenship ceremonies on this date.

At yesterday's march in Melbourne, it was reported that a scuffle broke out when an alleged Proud Boys supporter clashed with the Invasion Day marchers - a plant, maybe, to get the story the press was after.

The National Anthem has fallen victim to the leftist pressure, one line subtly but significantly altered on January 1st this year, from "for we are young and free" to "for we are one and free" in order to heal a division felt by the indigenous population: although, according to a statement made by the Prime Minister this change was made for all Australians and had received universal positive feedback. Likely the Flag will be next, in order to appease further complaints.

In actual fact, if the landing of the First Fleet is to be perceived as some sort of 'invasion' the date it took place is surely relevant... so whilst it has been included in the Australia Day Celebrations as a significant historical event - it actually happened on the 18th of January 1770...

Fast forward nearly 200 years and the Nationality & Citizenship Act 1948 was enacted on... the 26th January 1949!! This was the date when Australians truly became - Australian!!

Up until this time all people living in Australia were British subjects, including Aborigines born after January 1st, 1921 who had only gained this status under the Commonwealth Nationality Act 1920. From the 26th January 1949, Aboriginal Australians became fully protected by Australian Law for the first time and since that date much has been done at all levels, politically, physically, financially to assist, support and compensate the indigenous Australians for all previous atrocities during British Colonial Governance, even to an elevated level of respect as outlined at Reconciliation Australia that: at any and every event, (even on tv or online) a 'Welcome to Country' or 'Recognition of Country' must be performed or offered to acknowledge the original owners and/ or custodians of that land.

Therefore, far from being an exclusive day for the much-maligned White Australians to gloat and celebrate invading this sunburnt country, it represents the birth of a nation, hardships endured, growth, opportunity and reward...

Australia Day, a day for ALL Australians to celebrate being Australian and stop whingeing! To celebrate all that has evolved since 1949, since 1920, since 1770, the building of a nation with a top-class health system, good schooling, improved housing, vast infrastructure - and still a work in progress!

Lockdown 3, When will it End?

With our bumbling government extending the coronavirus laws until July 17th, giving local councils in England, powers to close pubs, restaurants, shops and public spaces. We all know that when this lockdown is lifted, we will be put under the tier system again.

These laws were only brought in last July when the government wanted to pass the responsibility over. The extension of the laws took place very quietly, only coming to light a week after it had happened.

The main coronavirus legislation is due to expire at the end of March so most people could foresee that another big lockdown was coming even after all the empty promises we were given throughout last year.

Our bumbling PM even this week opened his mouth stating that some restrictions could be lifted as soon as mid-February, only for government officials to correct him and say that is when the first review into lifting any restrictions will take place.

People want to know when schools will open, and all government officials keep moving the goal posts for when this is likely to happen. Giving their usual vague answers of "we need to follow the data."

Yet the data is already showing that the R-rate has already dropped. The infection rate is dropping too. We cannot compare the data of last March's lockdown as our bumbling government were only testing those that were in hospital.

The scientists that are advising our government, have already stated that they expect restrictions to be enforced again next winter. They also want to keep our children locked away until after Easter or even May. They also want our pubs to stay close into the summer.

Just like last year some of our government want life to go back to normal as soon as possible, yet those who were not voted in are still pulling the strings. Keeping us shut away without social contact.

The cost of lockdowns is not just economic but the damage that is being forced on to people will have lasting effects for decades to come.

Readers Thoughts

Lockdown

Does anybody really believe these restrictions will be lifted in the near future?

I can see this becoming the new normal, there is already talk of vaccine passports. We can only leave our homes for work or to shop. Whether you believe the virus is has big of a threat has they say or not.

The real reason for these rules is to condition people into doing as they are told. Which makes it some much easier to control us, you only have to look at how the masses are blindly obeying the rules and even informing on others.

Who would have thought our country would become a police state. Anyone who said this would happen just five years ago would have been seen as a lunatic.

Most of us National Socialists knew that the state was tightening up their control of the people. But we did not foresee the extreme measures the government has gone to during this crisis. Their reaction and management during the covid-19 outbreak is way beyond what is needed.

A government who cared for its people would have lockdown properly the first time and banned all travel overseas and stopped people from entering the country. There must be a reason they acted how they did. I believe that they used this as an opportunity to see how far they could restrict people and how would those people react.

There has been no real opposition to the lockdown so they will continue to implement further restrictions. Unless people wake up and decide they have had enough and take to the streets and protest against what is happening.

We are well on the way to becoming a Marxist controlled police state and then part of the one world government which is the ultimate aim of those in power.

Immigrants Want Houses Not Hotels.

While we cope with yet another lockdown. The unwanted guest at the Penally and Napier army barracks have been protesting and going on hunger strike because they are not happy with the conditions.

In both barracks they complain that they cannot socially distance, that they are given poor food. That the standards they are living in are not fit for purpose. Plus, they claim they are being treated like prisoners. Yet, even during lockdown they can leave the barracks. Yet we are likely to be fined for buying a coffee or sitting on a bench.

They are living in Free accommodation, with Free Wi-Fi and Television. They have access to washing and laundry facilities. As well as receiving three meals a day. They are even given a mobile phone if they do not have one. All this for entering our country illegally. They really do think they should be put in their own.

We have thousands of Men, Women and Children who are sleeping out on our streets for many reasons. Even with lockdown are still sleeping out on the streets. Most would jump at the chance to be able to sleep indoors and have somewhere to wash and to wash their things. They would accept all the things that are on offer in these barracks and be grateful for them.

They are now wanting houses, why? They are single males and if they come from war torn countries as many of them claim surely knowing you have a bed for the night and will be getting fed should be enough. Not demanding you be housed. Let's just add one important fact, that in our liberal country single males do not normally get any help to be housed unless they come from social care.

South Africa The Future for The World.

South Africa a vision of what the world is turning into. The more they scream and demand equality, the more you know that they want total power. Just look how South Africa has turned out.

They wanted equality and took power, that power has all but destroyed the country. The government and police are corrupt and solely work to benefit themselves. The people who have worked for generations to build the country up to help all are now being robbed of their businesses and lands. In a lot of cases now, they are even being robbed of their lives.

The ANC has never helped the country. Now there is the EFF a Marxist party who want a socialist government. The EFF are the main instigators of the Farm attacks that are happening in South Africa. Members of EFF have even held protest around schools to intimidate both staff and pupils.

White genocide is rife throughout the country. Innocent white people are being attacked, robbed and killed just because people want what they have worked hard for.

Last year alone there were 434 farm attacks and 76 white people murdered during these horrendous attacks. Most victims are brutally beaten and tied up. Sadly, as I write this, I do not know the number of others who were injured in these attacks, but the number will be a high one.

These attackers not only attack the people, but they try to destroy homes and take whatever they want. White farmers live with constant fear. Some attacks the animals choose to steal livestock but not happy with that they will go on to kill the remaining livestock. They have even taken to setting fire to delivery trucks for two reasons one to make sure the supplies do not get to the white people and the other so they can steal the goods for themselves.

Another thing that is truly sole destroying when lands are taken over, they do not make use of the land. They just build their little huts instead making the land work for them.

Never is any of this shared through the mainstream media or are any governments wanting to stop this. Is this the plan for the world.

We Will Have Our Country Back!

BRITAIN is in rapid decline. Decades of subversion by the political Left and stupidity or worse from the political centre, the liberals and conservative Right has totally undermined the spirit and structure of what was once Great Britain. Successive governments have duped the British people into accepting the constant influx of foreigners, immigrants, economic migrants, asylum-seekers foreign investors, foreign companies, foreign banks, foreign customs, foreign cultures, foreign religions, foreign attitudes. Successive governments have embroiled Britain in un-winnable overseas conflicts, wars which do not offer Britain security but leave the UK vulnerable.

Large scale non-white immigration coupled with years of almost state-sponsored multi-culturalism, rampant materialism, and mind-numbing popular entertainment has undermined traditional British values and turned the ordinary British worker into a soulless consumer, addicted to fast food and the slop poured out by decadent, multi-national media, hooked into international brand-named industries. The time has come to call a halt to the betrayal and corruption of the British people by these so-called democratic forces.

The time has come to force radical changes with radical ideas of British National Socialism.
